2020: A Challenging Year

In March, the COVID-19 pandemic brought our whole world to its knees. Wayside House staff and board looked at the many vulnerable women facing substance abuse issues who could become collateral damage as they face even more stressors - isolation, unemployment and new threats of homelessness.

We knew that more women than ever would be seeking our services and we acted swiftly to ensure that any woman needing us would still receive them, but safely and securely.

Despite this health and economic crisis, as always, we remain true to our mission - working to provide as many women as possible with the services they need to heal and recover.

We take great pride in our outstanding services and record of accomplishments that started in 1974 and we want to make sure that we continue to make a difference in thousands of women's lives in the years to come.
